Washington, DC 20003

WE SPEAK THE SOULS OF ANCESTORS

In celebration of Black History Month, DCCAH presented an exhibition of fine art created by African American artists living and working in the District. Inspired by the words of the Washington, DC Poet Laureate, Ms. Delores Kendrick, this special exhibition took its title from a line of her recent poem entitled "Emancipation Rhythms". Works selected for this exhibit reinforce the concept of gaining wisdom and understanding from the past to gain freedom and clarity as one moves forward into their future. Among these works, stories of historic triumph are told, while spiritual conduits harmonize in rhythmic color to honor the various cultures that are interwoven within the African American family.

ENSLAVEMENT TO EMANCIPATION

Documentary screening

In partnership with the Office of Cable Television

An informative and compelling television documentary produced in conjunction with the Office of Cable Television chronicling the history of the Compensated Emancipation Act of April 16, 1862, freeing enslaved people of Washington, D.C. The documentary also highlights the single largest attempted slave escape in U.S. history aboard a schooner called the Pearl. Enslavement to Emancipation recounts the heroic wartime contributions of what was then called the U.S. First Colored Troops, African American slaves turned soldiers fighting for the Union during the Civil War.

STRAIGHT UP GO-GO

Film screening with live performance by Rare Essence

In partnership with Nubia Filmworks, Inc.

This comprehensive film traces the history and influences of the go-go sound, from early role models, Cab Calloway, James Brown, Fela, and Chuck Brown & the Soul Searchers, through the mid-eighties with Black Heat, Experience Unlimited, Rare Essence and Junkyard Band, up to the new generation of artists including Pleasure Band, C. J.'s Uptown Crew, Casual AI & The City Groovers. There are more than a few theories about where go-go came from and how it was developed, but on two points all factions agree: it evolved from African rhythms and it's unquestionably the music of Washington, D.C.

Summer Youth Employment Program

DCCAH hosted an enthusiastic group of young people through the Department of Employee Services Summer Youth Employment Program. DCCAH strives to ensure that DC youth understand the variety of creative career pathways that exist in the city within the arts and humanities so that they can pursue training and educational opportunities that result in exciting and lucrative jobs. This is done by placing youth in our own agency office as well as with some of the District's top arts and culture organizations. These organizations included The Atlas Performing Arts Center, Capital Fringe Festival, DC, Females Representing Every Side of Hip Hop (F.R.E.S.H.H.), Gala Hispanic Theatre, Guerilla Arts, Next Stop Summer Youth Arts Program, Powell House Project, Theatre Lab and We Act Radio.

On August 8, 2013, youth employees from seven of the nine partner worksites gathered at Atlas Performing Arts Center to celebrate their accomplishments and present their work to their friends, families and colleagues. The audience was treated to musical performances, dramatic scene selections, public service announcements using multi-media elements, and a unique photo display. The event was a truly joyful, energy filled extravaganza.

DCCAHA Board of Commissioners

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

DEPUTY DIRECTOR

POET LAUREATE

Executive Assistant

- 5. Please provide the Committee with an organization chart and current Schedule A. Please also include a complete, up-to-date organizational chart for each division within the agency (if applicable) and an explanation of the roles and responsibilities for each division and subdivision.

Sub-Division Roles and Responsibilities

Marketing and Communication Division this is where several functions take place. Our agency produces a number of special events that reflect the interest of the District's multicultural community and enhances the residents' quality of life. We work to ensure that arts and culture are an integral part of city life and we work to promote our grantees through the different free events we offer to the community. We provide annual programming such as the Mayors Arts Awards, Larry Neal Writers Awards, Poetry out Loud, Hip-Hop Theater Festival and Dance DC. Through advertising with radio stations, TV, interviews with media and printing materials, is our way of getting information out about events and programs that are being offered through the Commission.

Public Art Division was established by 1986 legislation that allocates up to 1% of the District's adjusted Capital Budget for the commission and acquisition of artwork. There are many components to the Public Art department. DC Creates Public Art Program purchases, commissions and installs artwork throughout the District of Columbia. We have Art Bank Collection, Murals DC, Wilson Building Art Collection, Commissioned Projects, Art in Metro, Public Art Master Plan, Maps and Apps and Tours and Multimedia. Our program gives opportunities for individuals or organizations to encounter art in parks, communities, government offices, libraries, and other public venues. We enrich the everyday lives of the residents and visitors and give voice to artist as well. The purpose of the DC Creates! Public Art Program is to provide high quality art installations and administrative support services to the public so they can benefit from an enhanced visual environment. The collection includes more than 100 permanently sited and integrated works and 2,500 portable works in District offices.

Grants Division DCCAH is governed by a volunteer board of Commissioners who are appointed by the Mayor and approved by the City Council. We provide financial support and conduct programming in three primary focus areas: Public Art, Arts Learning and Outreach and Grants and Program. As the Official Arts Agency for the District of Columbia it is our mission to provide grant funding , programs and educational activities that encourage diverse artistic expressional and learning opportunities , so that all District of Columbia residents and visitors can experience the rich culture of our city. The D.C. Commission on the Arts and Humanities (DCCAH) will be the leading voice for arts and culture in the city, thereby elevating the impact of the arts and humanities locally, nationally and internationally. Recognizing the changing dynamics within the city, the D.C. Commission on the Arts and Humanities is poised to increase our depth and expand our breadth of creative opportunities for residents and visitors.

Operation Division This is the main function of the agency. Under this division you have the Office of Finance that process all the payment for all grantees and other billing that requires payments. The Office Manager/HR Advisor runs daily operation such as time keeping and approval, completing monthly reports, supply ordering, agency HR updating and keeping in compliance with standards that are implemented for the agency. Risk Management is a part of operating. That consists of making sure the Commission is in compliance with the building with all safety issues, having an up to date evacuation plane in place.

Poet Laureate Office The vision of the office of the poet laureate focuses upon three vital benchmarks of its poetry program: creativity, choice and collaboration with other art forms. This vision was conceived and designed by Dolores Kendrick, Poet Laureate of Washington DC, to formulate and preserve standard poetry as an art form. There are several programs that come through the Poet Laureate Office, such as the Poet-in-Progress (PIP) Program, which is the first of its kind in Washington, DC! P.I.P. serves to support the creative talents and careers of local poets, Young Champion Poets for Senior High School Student, and Poetry in a Garden. All the programs a designed to help upcoming poets.

Arts Education The Arts Education department spearheads Arts Learning and Outreach programs for young people, pre-Kindergarten through 12th grade. Provide consultation, outreach and advocacy services to school and community partners in order to support the deliverance of quality and age appropriate arts learning and development opportunities for participants of all ages. Analyses and evaluation of grant programs, policies and plans pertaining to educational affiliations within the District of Columbia in order to ensure that they are consistent with priorities articulated in the policy agenda, budget, paying special attention to the goals and objectives of the program and assuring proper fund usage for activities involved, city-wide and agency strategic plans, and submissions to the Executive Office of the Mayor and Federal Government.

Legislative and Community Affairs Creates and implement programs designed to promote the Commission's objectives particularly among the Executive Office of the Mayor, members of City Council and their staff. Provides outreach and community engagement efforts to legislative bodies to increase awareness of the community impact of the activities of Commission grantees throughout the District. Conduct policy research and analysis on current and emerging legislative and regulatory issues or proposals governing and affecting the arts and humanities. Prepare interpretative policy reports for District government officials including the Executive Office of the Mayor, Office of the Chief Financial Officer and Budget, D.C. City Council and other government agencies. Monitor and assess the agency's compliance with federal and District financial regulations relevant to the ongoing the agency program agenda, financial records, systems and documents, inclusive of annual federal and District audits. Draft and formulate legislation pertaining to arts and humanities in the District of Columbia in consultation with the DC City Council and DC Office of the Attorney General. Advise on legal strategies and protocol for advancing the mission of the Arts Commission and fundraising opportunities appropriate for DCCAH. Responsible to internal governance issues, inclusive of working closely with the Commission Board.

12. How much in grant money was awarded to artists? To organizations working in the area of humanities (not artists)?

The DCCAH is firmly committed to funding individual artists and organizations working in the humanities. Evidence of this is found in the substantial increase in funding to these constituent groups.

The DCCAH directly funds numerous DC-based organizations that focus on the humanities. In order to more broadly serve individuals and organizations working in the humanities, the DCCAH has maintained a longstanding partnership with the Humanities Council of Washington DC (HCWDC) whose mission is to support community projects that enrich the lives of DC residents through the humanities disciplines. In recent years, the DCCAH has increased the funding to HCWDC in order to provide additional grants in larger amounts for projects that focus on preserving the rich history of life in the District.
